Types of Party System

There are three major types of party system.

Single Party System: A system in which a single political party has the right to form the government. Single party exists in the communist countries such as China, North Korea and Cuba.

Bi – Party System: In a Bi–Party system the power is usually shared between two parties. One of which is the ruling party and the other is the opposition. eg. Bi-Party system in U.K. (the Labour Party and the Conservative Party) and in U.S.A (the Republican Party and the Democratic Party)

Multi – Party System: When the competition for power is among three or more parties, the system is known as multi party system. This type of party system is in existence in India, France, Sweden and Norway etc.

Party system in India

Countries that follow a federal system have two kinds of parties. India's party system originated in the late 19th century. In fact India has the largest number of political parties in the world. In India we find the existence of political parties at three levels. They are National parties, Regional parties, and Registered but unrecognised parties (independent candidates). Every party in the country has to register with Election Commission.

Election Commission – Statutory body

The Election Commission of India is an autonomous, constitutional authority responsible for administering elections. Its headquarters is located in New Delhi.
